Kazakhstan Mathematical Society is holding the First Congress of Mathematicians of Kazakhstan in Shymkent from April 3-7, 2026.

Congress will be held at M. Auezov South Kazakhstan University.

The Congress will consist of SIX international scientific conferences:

- "Traditional International April Mathematical Conference in Honor of Scientists' Day";
- "Computational and Information Technologies in Science, Engineering, and Education" (CITech-2026);
- "Inverse and Ill-Posed Problems: Theory, Applications and AI";
- "Scientific Artificial Intelligence: Mathematical Methods and Industrial Application";
- "Fundamental Problems of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics";
- "Current Issues of Teaching Mathematics in Schools and Universities in the Era of Digital Transformation and Artificial Intelligence."

The goal of the Congress is to develop strategic directions for the development of Kazakhstan's mathematical sciences.

The objectives of the Congress are to discuss modern scientific achievements, exchange experiences among researchers, and develop cooperation in the fields of mathematics, mechanics, information technology, and artificial intelligence.

Kazakhstan and international participants are invited to participate in the Congress in all areas of mathematics, mechanics, and information technology.

IMPORTANT DATES:
